

Publication Agreement & Assurance of Integrity

Please carefully read and understand your rights and responsibilities pursuant to the Center for Scholastic Inquiry's publication agreement prior to signing and returning to the CSI. To document your understanding, please check the box next to each item, sign the document and return (via email or regular mail) to the Center for Scholastic Inquiry. The primary author is considered the designated representative of each and every member of the research team and all credited authors; therefore, his or her check marks and signature serves as agreement/consent from all team members and authors.

- By submitting a manuscript for publication, each and every member of the research team and all credited authors confirm that the research and writing is their exclusive original, unpublished work. Any or all manuscripts may be subjected to plagiarism detection software.
- During CSI's review process, authors agree that their manuscript is not and will not be under review by any other publication(s).
- During the final editing process, CSI may make final adjustments to the set-up of your manuscript including (but not limited to) margins, spacing, font, headings, lists, bolding, and graphs.
- Upon acceptance of the manuscript for publication, each and every member of the research team and all credited authors grant the Center for Scholastic Inquiry, the sole permanent right to publish the manuscript, at its option, in one of its academic journals, on CSI's website, in other germane academic publications, and/or on an alternate hosting site or database. Authors retain copyright ownership of their research and writing for all other purposes.
- Additionally, all credited authors consent to participate as a peer reviewer of two manuscript submissions for the Center for Scholastic Inquiry's juried process.
- Upon invitation, authors agree to complete comprehensive peer reviews with comments, according to CSI's peer review guidelines, within 30 days of receipt of such notice.
- I have reviewed the document titled "publication cycle checklist" and agree with the identified steps.
